Summary	IQAC, DSPSR organized three day National Seminar on the theme "Union Budget 2020: A Critique" from 17 to 19 February, 2020. The seminar discussed issues related to the current year's Union Budget. It

	attempted to assess the current environment and debate the requirements of the future. The objectives were as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Understand the Budget from the macro and micro economic perspective.</li> <li>• Key changes from the previous year and current year's budget.</li> <li>• Future Implications of Union Budget 2020.</li> </ul> The session started with the welcome address by Prof. (Dr.) G. S. Popli, Director, DSPSR, to set the tone delivered the welcome and theme address wherein, he introduced the topic to all the faculty members. Prof. Popli further appraised the topic of National Seminar. Prof. B. P. Singh, Chairman, DSPSR, set the tone for the discourse in the seminar by raising the issue that some of the practices followed in Indian budgetary practices need immediate attention and relook, especially if fiscal prudence is the goal and budget is an important means towards that. Later faculty members presented their presentations in the predetermined order and each presentation was followed by interactive and constructive discussion. In the end, Prof. Popli delivered the Concluding Session by highlighting the micro and macro level implications of Union Budget 2020.
