Function and purpose

- ▶ The share market is one of the most important ways for companies to raise money, along with debt markets which are generally more imposing but do not trade publicly.<sup>[2]</sup> This allows businesses to be publicly traded, and raise additional financial capital for expansion by selling shares of ownership of the company in a public market. The liquidity that an exchange affords the investors enables their holders to quickly and easily sell securities. This is an attractive feature of investing in stocks, compared to other less liquid investments such as property and other immovable assets.
- ▶ History has shown that the price of stocks and other assets is an important part of the dynamics of economic activity, and can influence or be an indicator of social mood. An economy where the share market is on the rise is considered to be an up-and-coming economy. The share market is often considered the primary indicator of a country's economic strength and development.<sup>[2]</sup>

Share Market

A share market is the aggregation of buyers and sellers of stocks (also called shares), which represent ownership claims on businesses. They may include securities listed on a public stock exchange, as well as stock that is only traded privately, such as shares of private companies which are sold to investors through equity crowdfunding platforms. Investment is usually made with an investment strategy in mind.

The key factor is the stock exchange – the basic platform that provides the facilities used to trade company stocks and other securities. A stock may be bought or sold only if it is listed on an exchange. Thus, it is the meeting place of the stock buyer and seller. India's primary stock exchanges are the Bombay stock exchange and the National stock exchange.
